

Greenvale to Attwood Shared Path Project

September 2022

To the Resident,

Hume City Council is planning to redevelop the shared path along the Melbourne Water Pipe Track between Greenvale and Attwood.

Works will include:

- Replacing the existing asphalt path between Dorset Drive and Erinbank Crescent with a new three-metre-wide concrete shared path.
- Constructing a new three-metre-wide concrete shared path between Erinbank Crescent and Kenny Street.
- Line marking and signage

In total this will provide local residents, walkers, and cyclists with approximately 1.6km of new sealed shared paths. Construction is anticipated to commence in 2023.

The shared path is located on land owned by Melbourne Water and Council has received conditional approval to construct the shared path.

Significant Melbourne Water infrastructure is located within the pipe track reserve, so there are limitations on what can be constructed in this space. The project will not include lighting, seating, drinking fountains or tree planting.

Further advice regarding construction timing will be distributed to residents adjacent to the Pipe Track once the construction period is confirmed.

Your feedback will help us plan future infrastructure that supports walking and cycling in the area.
